Join us as our English and Hispanic congregations worship together on October 2nd. Aspects from all of our worship services, Traditional, Contemporary, and Hispanic, will be combined in this service. October 2nd is also World Communion Sunday, and we will partake in communion together. Pastor Juan Garcia will be preaching. There will not be an 8:30 or 12:30 service, but Sunday Bible Study will be at 9:45.

After the service, a celebration luncheon will be in Payne Fellowship Hall. This luncheon will be a celebration of the Hispanic Heritage Month and the return of Juan Garcia from sabbatical. It will be a great time of food and fellowship for everyone!

Sanctuary

While I was in my chaplain training, my supervisor asked me, "Do you have a sanctuary?" My mind wandered frantically, attempting to find a location or a structure that I could share. As I thought more about it, not only did I realize that I did not have one, but I realized that a sanctuary did not have to be either of those things. It very well could be a physical place, but also a person of trust, a "safe space" within my imagination, or even a hobby. A sanctuary is a place where you feel protected and secure, a place that brings life, in whatever unique ways you can receive it.

The Webster dictionary defines a sanctuary as, "a place where someone or something is protected or given shelter" or, "the protection that is provided by a safe place." In the Old Testament, God instructed the Israelites to build a tabernacle. Once the tabernacle was built, the Israelites carried it with them as they journeyed, and God promised that His presence would reside in it so that He would be with them. In the New Testament, Jesus Christ is the living, breathing incarnation of God, who walked the earth and dwelled with His people. Then, when He ascended into Heaven and sent His Spirit to dwell within us, our bodies became the sanctuary of God.

This week I want to emphasize the importance of having a sanctuary. As we live in the chaos of the world, we must have a safe place to return to, whether it be a physical space or mental "safe place." Think about developing one sanctuary for each. Maybe there is a particular chair that sits perfectly: a chair that when you sit in it, it brings an immediate sigh of relief. Maybe it is a memory that, with your eyes closed, you envision complete freedom and solace from the world. Maybe it is a specific verse of scripture which, when you recite it brings peace or hope to you.

We are all uniquely and wonderfully made in the image of God. We have differing gifts and desires of the heart that bring us closer to the divine. This week, I encourage you to ponder the question that my supervisor asked me: Do you have a sanctuary? If your answer is yes, I challenge you to utilize it. If your answer is no, I encourage you to create it!

In This Together; Through Christ Alone,

Myles Shipp
